

CHRIS RUMLEY

Senior LNG and Natural Gas Consultant at Poten & Partners
www.poten.com

Chris is a Senior LNG and Natural Gas Consultant at Poten & Partners' Houston office. Chris has more than 10 years of experience in the fields of natural gas and LNG, commodity forecasting and economic analysis. He is a Japanese speaker and has had a primary focus on commercial, market and project development aspects of the natural gas and LNG business globally. Chris rejoined Poten in 2015 after previously working for the company in Perth from 2007-2012.

HOUSTON

5847 San Felipe,
Suite 800
Houston, TX 77057

From 2012-2015 Chris was assigned to the Gorgon LNG Project as the Operating Committee representative for Tokyo Gas Australia's interest in the venture. He has wide ranging expertise in gas and LNG upstream and downstream commercial matters and analysis related to gas and LNG markets (shipping, ADP development, SPA support, supply, demand, price and negotiations) and gas and LNG project developments (upstream, pipelines and LNG plants, shipping and import terminals).

Chris holds a B.Comm. from Murdoch University, Australia and an M.Econ. degree from the Graduate School of Economics at Kyoto University, Japan.