Jennifer Reddien has spent much of her career pursuing diversity and inclusion efforts. In addition to her background and personal experiences, Jennifer's passion for equality makes her an effective and invaluable leader as the Director of Diversity and Inclusion at Haynes and Boone. Jennifer's charge is to build upon the firm's current award-winning diversity initiatives by strategizing, elevating, implementing and executing the firm's diversity plan. She closely monitors progress and holds the firm accountable for results.

Prior to joining the firm, Jennifer was the Executive Director of The Chicago Committee on Minorities in Large Law Firms, a non-profit organization that promotes racial and ethnic diversity in the legal profession. Before that, Jennifer spent many years as a litigation lawyer and served as co-chair of the Diversity Task Force at her previous law firm.

Jennifer is an active member of the American Bar Association, the Association of Law Firm Diversity Professionals, Inc. and many other minority organizations. She was listed among Profiles in Diversity Journal's list of Women Worth Watching for 2019. During her legal career, she was named an Illinois Rising Star by Super Lawyers, Thomson Reuters, from 2009-2014. Jennifer received a Bachelor of Arts from Duke University, a Juris Doctor from the University of Michigan Law School, and a Master of Business Administration from the University of Notre Dame.
