Our Nuclear Verdicts Practice Group represents the pinnacle of legal strategy and comprehensive risk management for mass torts, catastrophic injury, and wrongful death litigations posing potential nuclear verdict risk. By seamlessly integrating our trials, insurance recovery, and appellate practices, we deliver unparalleled legal representation designed to mitigate catastrophic financial exposure.

Strategic Approach

We are adept at defending against nuclear verdicts—extraordinary monetary judgments that can fundamentally threaten an organization's financial stability and reputation. Nuclear verdicts in mass torts, catastrophic injury and wrongful death cases are trending upward. To minimize risks associated with nuclear verdicts, our multidisciplinary team combines:

- Sophisticated trial advocacy to neutralize potentially devastating claims;
- Precision insurance recovery strategies to maximize protective coverage; and
- Advanced appellate expertise to challenge and potentially overturn extreme judgments.

Our practice group offers a holistic approach to managing these high-risk litigation matters, including proactive case assessment and strategic planning, aggressive courtroom representation, refined insurance policy interpretation, and meticulous development of appellate preservation and post-trial motion strategies.

We leverage deep legal experience, data-driven insights, and innovative litigation techniques to protect our clients' financial interests and organizational integrity in the most challenging legal environments.
