

Can foreign investors develop energy or infrastructure projects in the U.K.?

November 28, 2023 Conrad Purcell

PRACTICES Energy, Power and Natural Resources, Energy Transition, Renewable Energy

In Jan. 2022, the National Security and Investment Act established a new regime for government approval of transactions that may pose a risk to U.K. national security. This video explores the key considerations for both U.K. and foreign investors in a target entity that may be affected by this law.

