

FDA Announces Process for Guidance Documents COVID19

March 25, 2020 Suzie Trigg

PRACTICES FDA Regulatory and Compliance, Healthcare and Life Sciences, Healthcare Transactions and Regulatory, Life Sciences

FDA announces process for FDA guidance documents related to COVID-19. The FDA has announced procedures, which operate within the FDA's established good guidance practices regulations, for making available FDA guidance documents related to COVID-19. The FDA believes that these procedures will allow the FDA to rapidly disseminate its recommendations and policies related to COVID-19. The Guidance documents, will be implemented without prior comment and will be accessible on the internet from the FDA web page entitled "Coronavirus Disease 2019 \(COVID-19\)."

Haynes Boone has a COVID-19 task force in place and continues to monitor the global impact of COVID-19 on various industries. For questions on the FDA's evolving COVID-19 policies or food safety during the COVID-19 crisis, please contact Suzie Trigg or any member of the Healthcare and Life Sciences Group.