

Import Permits for Gasoline and Diesel into Mexico Available as of April 1, 2016

February 26, 2016

RELATED PRACTICES Mexico, Energy, Power and Natural Resources, Mexico Energy Reform

On February 23, 2016 the Secretariat of Energy (SENER) published a notice in the Federal Gazette by means of which as of April 1, 2016 such authority can grant import permits of gasoline and diesel into Mexico to any interested party that complies with the applicable legal provisions, including those set forth in the Administrative Resolution published in the Federal Gazette on December 29, 2014 and amended by publication in the same Gazette on December 30, 2015 that establishes the classification and codification of Hydrocarbons and Petroliferous Products for which import and export is subject to prior permit from SENER.

Originally the Hydrocarbons Law (paragraph II of the fourteenth transitory Article) indicated that those permits would be granted by SENER as of January 1, 2017 or before if the market conditions allow it.

For more information, please contact: