

IP Beacon Year in Review 2022

January 23, 2023 Jeffrey Wolfson

PRACTICES AI and Deep Learning, Chemical, Intellectual Property Litigation, AI and Technology, Autonomous Transportation, CBD and Hemp, Patent Litigation, Privacy and Cybersecurity, Patent Office Trials, Medical Device and Technology, Patents, Patent Prosecution and Counseling, Media and Entertainment Litigation, Streaming Media, FinTech Virtual Currency and Blockchain, Vehicle Electrification, Technology Transactions, Trademark and Advertising, Advertising, Marketing and Promotional Law, Copyright, Intellectual Property

Welcome to the recap edition of the Haynes Boone IP Beacon® Year in Review. We are pleased to highlight key intellectual property (IP) news from 2022, and some of our representative IP client successes and publications over the past year that might be relevant to your business success in 2023.

Our patent trials team represented clients in 78 inter partes reviews/PTAB proceedings that were filed in 2022, and our patent prosecution team filed almost 2,000 U.S. patent applications and helped issue over 1,630 U.S. patents in 2022.

We invite you to read on for a review of important IP related cases, updates on some of our firm's IP litigation efforts and key deals, and a few of the awards our intellectual property team is most proud of from 2022.

Download our 2022 Year in Review Report.