The world of securities litigation and SEC enforcement continued to turn in 2020 despite the global pandemic and other challenges. Haynes Boone's Securities Litigation 2020 Year in Review summarizes and discusses developments over the past year, including:

- The Delaware Supreme Court's approval of forum selection clauses intended to address the rise of public offering claims in state court following the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in Cyan
- Case law on scienter, falsity, loss causation and class certification issues
- Updates on SEC enforcement including statutory developments addressing the Supreme Court's recent disgorgement decisions
- Developments and trends in Delaware fiduciary duty litigation including decisions on books and records demands and director oversight claims
