Welcome to Shipping and Energy: Year in Review 2025 from the London office of Haynes Boone. We are delighted to bring together the alerts, articles and publications, alongside other content that featured in our newsletter throughout the past year. As always, the collection showcases a variety of insightful pieces across our key sectors. During the year, we have expanded the sectors and areas of law that we cover and this year, you will find coverage across shipping, offshore energy, renewable energy, project finance, nuclear energy, dispute resolution and comparative law. You will find six commentaries from the editor of the newsletter and our partners, who share their perspectives on the key themes, developments and standout pieces from 2025.
