Welcome to the Summer 2025 Shipping and Energy Newsletter.

This edition explores some of the strategic questions shaping conversations in the energy sector today and provides tools and information that will be helpful when entering into contracts.

How is ageing offshore oil and gas infrastructure being repurposed for the future? Examine its growing role in hydrogen transport and storage, an exciting development in the move toward cleaner energy. This edition also looks at how small modular reactors (SMRs) are emerging as an alternative power source for energy-hungry infrastructure, including data centres.
