

What kind of security do lenders commonly require over projects?

December 5, 2023 Conrad Purcell

PRACTICES Energy Finance, Energy Transition, Energy, Power and Natural Resources, Project Finance and Development, Renewable Energy

This video explores the security structure commonly utilised in project finance transactions under which a project company grants a fixed and floating charge over all of its assets. This includes its bank accounts and a mortgage over the real estate it owns, as well as methods of enforcement.

