

Autonomous vessels: Legislating for a new Generation of Ships

---

April 14, 2023 Fiona Cain, Kayley Rousell

---

PRACTICES Autonomous Transportation, Shipping

---

Several trials and pilot projects have been carried out using autonomous and remote-controlled vessels in the past five years, but no national and international legislation is yet available. When unmanned vessels enter commercial operation, there are no global international regulations and relatively few national regulations dealing specifically with their operation.

Read the full article here.

This article originally appeared in Riviera Maritime.