Texas continues to shine as a hub for private equity. Haynes Boone Partner Brent Beckert highlights the growing role of middle-market players and predicts more new entrants in 2025, including spinoffs and independent sponsors, in a conversation with The Texas Lawbook.

Read an excerpt below:

“Most of the key players in the Texas M&A private equity space are heavily invested in the middle market and include TPG Capital, Trive Capital, Gauge Capital, Jones Capital, CIC Capital and Valesco Industries. These firms are active in a number of industries across Texas,” said Brent Beckert, a Dallas-based M&A partner at Haynes Boone. ...

Beckert agrees and predicts the trend will continue in 2025. “We also expect to see a number of new firms enter the marketplace, including spinoffs from larger offices, increasingly active family offices and independent sponsors.”
