D CEO profiled Haynes Boone Partner Melissa Goodman on the challenges she faces as an employment lawyer.

Here is an excerpt.

“I represent employers in cases that deal with what I call ‘transitioning high-level executives.’ Often it may be an involuntary transition. I’ve found it’s often like a divorce. It’s all very intense feelings and ill will, often on both sides. I try to come up with a resolution that both sides can agree to, but it’s hard when you have a number of executives and you’re trying to get them all on the same page.” ...
