

Hall in The Dallas Morning News: How Ultrarich Dealmakers Invest Billions

July 21, 2026

RELATED PRACTICES Family Office, Investment Management

As family offices continue to grow in North Texas, ultra-high-net-worth families are increasingly using these private entities to manage wealth, pursue investments and build long-term legacies. Haynes Boone Partner Evan Hall spoke with The Dallas Morning News about the growing influence of family offices in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and why their impact often goes unnoticed.

Read an excerpt below.

“The average reader probably doesn’t understand how large the family office world is in the DFW area and their investing impact, because it goes completely under the radar unless they happen to be publicized,” said Evan Hall, a Texas-based partner at Haynes Boone.

Read the full article from The Dallas Morning News here.