Texas Lawyer profiled Haynes Boone in a detailed report about the firm's financial performance in 2018.

Here is an excerpt of the article:

Haynes Boone burst through significant financial barriers in 2018 as the firm's gross revenue bested the $400 million mark, profits per equity partner (PEP) topped $1 million, and revenue per lawyer (RPL) shot past the no-longer-elusive $750,000 level.

Timothy Powers, the Dallas-based firm's managing partner, said the record year reflects an effort across the firm of "just staying very disciplined in what we are doing."
