

Raghav Bajaj Honored with South Asian Bar Association of North America Rising Star Award

June 29, 2020

PRACTICES Intellectual Property, Patents, Patent Prosecution and Counseling

Haynes Boone Partner Raghav Bajaj has been selected as a recipient of the South Asian Bar Association of North America's (SABA's) 2020 Rising Star Award. He was honored during the SABA Virtual Conference on June 27.

The Rising Star Award recognizes a lawyer who is under 40 years old or has been practicing for less than 10 years. The recipients exemplify a range of high achievement in their practice areas, innovation, leadership, legal and community service and commitment to diversity.

The SABA serves as the umbrella organization for regional South Asian Bar Associations and South Asian legal professionals throughout North America. SABA seeks to strengthen the rapidly growing South Asian legal community with a recognized and trusted forum for professional growth and advancement and promotes civil rights and access to justice for the South Asian community.

Bajaj is a partner in the Intellectual Property Practice Group in Haynes Boone's Austin office. His practice focuses on patent office trials before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board (PTAB), including inter partes review (IPR) and covered business method (CBM) review proceedings, representing both petitioners and patent owners. He handles all phases of patent office trials, and has served as counsel in more than 50 proceedings.

Haynes Boone is an international corporate law firm with offices in Texas, New York, California, Charlotte, Chicago, Denver, Washington, D.C., London, Mexico City and Shanghai, providing a full spectrum of legal services in energy, technology, financial services and private equity. With more than 575 lawyers, Haynes Boone is ranked among the largest U.S.-based firms by The National Law Journal, The American Lawyer and The Lawyer. It also was recognized across the board for excellence in the BTI Consulting Group's 2020 "A-Team" report, which identifies the law firms that in-house counsel commend for providing superior client service.