Haynes Boone represented DuraServ, a Texas-based leader in the overhead door industry across North America, in its acquisitions of Casco Equipment on the West Coast and of Overhead Door and Fireplace Co., Inc. in the Southeast. These strategic transactions mark a significant step in DuraServ's continued growth, expanding its operational footprint across the United States.

Founded in 2001 and headquartered in Coppell, Texas, DuraServ is the leading provider of commercial, industrial and residential overhead door and loading dock solutions. The company serves a diverse range of industries from big-box, retail and food and beverage to manufacturing, transportation and logistics, operating more than 50 branches throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Casco Equipment has built a strong reputation over 40 years of business for providing innovative solutions for warehouse access, efficiency and safety for commercial and industrial customers. By acquiring Casco's offices in Riverside and West Sacramento, DuraServ will be able to deliver best-in-class services and solutions throughout California and Nevada.

Overhead Door and Fireplace brings more than 50 years of experience servicing commercial and residential customers as a cornerstone business in the Montgomery, Alabama, area. This strategic acquisition broadens DuraServ's geographic reach into Central Alabama and adds a new niche in fireplace solutions.
