

Haynes Boone Partners Named BTI 2025 Client Service All-Stars

August 25, 2025 Lauren Brogdon, Stephanie Sivinski

PRACTICES Intellectual Property Litigation, Crisis Management, Energy Litigation, Litigation

Haynes Boone Partners Lauren Brogdon and Stephanie Sivinski have both been named 2025 Client Service All-Stars by BTI Consulting Group for delivering what it calls the “best-of-the-best client service.”

Every Client Service All-Star is nominated by corporate counsel, meaning this is a purely client-driven award. There are no submissions or peer nominations.

Brogdon was recognized by clients, who said, “We rely on Lauren to apply her superior knowledge to real-world situations and craft tailored solutions that align with our goals.”

Brogdon is a partner in the Energy Litigation Practice Group in Haynes Boone’s Houston office and chair of the firm’s national Crisis Management Practice Group. Certified in Crisis Leadership, she brings a robust understanding of the challenges that her clients face during both routine emergencies and unprecedented incidents. Brogdon applies this knowledge and experience to planning and implementing response plans and assisting clients with crisis recovery, all with an eye toward avoiding liability.

Sivinski’s nominating client said, “Stephanie has exceptional writing skills and unwavering dedication to clients. She isn’t afraid to think outside the box to achieve the desired results.”

Sivinski is a trial lawyer who knows the value of effectively communicating her clients’ stories—both in written advocacy and in the courtroom. She focuses on complex federal-court litigation and has won trial victories in high-stakes cases ranging from patent-infringement to breach-of-contract matters. Her clients pioneer technology ranging from semiconductor manufacturing to pharmaceuticals, and thermodynamics to wireless networks.
