Haynes Boone is pleased to announce that 10 lawyers have been elevated to the title of counsel, effective May 1.

The group spans the globe, including lawyers from Dallas, Houston, Charlotte, Washington, D.C., Mexico City and London. The 10 lawyers represent more than a dozen practice areas, including multiple attorneys from the litigation, finance and international transactions groups.

At Haynes Boone, attorneys who qualify for the title of counsel must do excellent work of the highest quality, such that it is considered unique due to skill set, knowledge and industry or client relationships. Lawyers at the firm often move throughout their career on the continuum from associate to counsel to partner, a testament to Haynes Boone's track record in attorney development.

"This is an impressive group of lawyers whose leadership and legal acumen have earned them this well-deserved promotion," said Haynes Boone Managing Partner Taylor Wilson. "Their commitment to client service, collaboration and excellence reflects the best of our firm's values. I look forward to seeing all they will accomplish in this next stage of their careers."

The firm's new counsel are:

Joseph Collins (Estate Planning, Dallas)
Christina Gad (Litigation/Labor and Employment/OSHA, Houston)
Ochuko Hope (Finance/Fund Finance, Houston)
Neil Issar (Litigation/Government Investigations, Dallas)
Joel Gonzalez Lopez (International, Mexico City)
Jeremy Neilson (Intellectual Property/Patent Prosecution, Dallas-North)
Maria Parker (Finance/Fund Finance, Charlotte)
Kate Repko (Litigation/Insurance Recovery, Washington, D.C.)
Ramses Sanchez Trinidad (International/Litigation, Mexico City)
Shu Shu Wong (Energy, Power and Natural Resources, London)
