

Haynes Boone Releases Sixth Edition of HB Connections Alumni Magazine

March 25, 2024

Haynes Boone has released the newest edition of the firm's alumni magazine, HB Connections, highlighting the firm's fun and exciting alumni community.

Managing Partner Taylor Wilson noted the common theme in this edition of the magazine.

"Our incredible alumni in this edition are a reminder that we not only provide world-class legal counsel around the globe, but also help facilitate some remarkable, lighthearted joy for people everywhere," he wrote.

In this edition, focused on entertainment, you will read about professionals like Lisa Normand, who moved from trademark law to a career in feature films. You can also read about Joe De Metro and Diana Heligman, who live on opposite sides of the country but found their way to NBCUniversal after Haynes Boone.

Don't miss the Q&A with Heidi Bundren, who is now working for a hockey team despite having no experience in the sports industry, and a short feature on Partner Ken Kattner, who is an avid astrophotographer in his free time. As always, you can read about a returning lawyer in Autumn Highsmith, who returned to work with Stacy Brainin and the firm's general counsel office in September of last year.

To read the sixth edition of HB Connections, click here. To learn more about the firm's alumni program, click here.