Lawyers of Color has named Haynes Boone Associate Jamie Raju to its 2022 Hot List, which recognizes early- to mid-career attorneys of color who are excelling in the legal profession. Jamie is an Intellectual Property (IP) lawyer based in Dallas.

Lawyers of Color is a nonprofit devoted to promoting diversity in the legal profession and advancing democracy and equality in marginalized communities.

Jamie's IP practice spans a variety of technical fields, with a particular emphasis in AI and deep learning, precision medicine, digital health, bioinformatics, medical devices, cloud computing, and electromechanical devices. Jamie uses her electrical engineering background combined with her two years of medical school training and medical research experience to help clients navigate the preparation and prosecution of patent applications based on highly technical and complex inventions. She also helps clients with a variety of patent litigation and inter partes review matters.

Read Jamie's profile on Page 25 of the Lawyers of Color Hot List 2022 issue. Her honor follows last month's Lawyers of Color Law Firm Leaders issue, in which six Haynes Boone partners were recognized as the "Nation's Best."

Haynes Boone is an international corporate law firm with 18 offices in Texas, New York, California, Charlotte, Chicago, Denver, Washington, D.C., London, Mexico City and Shanghai, providing a full spectrum of legal services in energy, technology, financial services and private equity. With 600 lawyers, Haynes Boone is ranked among the largest U.S.-based firms by The National Law Journal, The American Lawyer and The Lawyer. It was recognized in the BTI Consulting Group's 2022 "A-Team" report, which identifies the law firms that in-house counsel commend for providing superior client service.
