Haynes Boone represented Juniper Capital Management in a partnership with CIC Partners to form Precision Aerospace Holdings, a new platform that will engage in the manufacturing and machining of components for space, aerospace and defense contractors.

Juniper and CIC, two Dallas-based private investment firms, announced the transaction on Aug. 19, noting that Precision Aerospace has acquired two operating companies – Applegate EDM, Inc. and Icon Machine Co. Inc.

CIC and Juniper served as co-investment partners, providing the equity to complete the recapitalization of Applegate and Icon, and collaborated closely to form a board of directors to further support the growth strategies of Precision Aerospace, according to the announcement.

Precision Aerospace represents the ninth portfolio acquisition for Juniper under four distinct investment platforms.
