The Dallas Business Journal has featured Haynes Boone Partner Sakina Foster among its 40 Under 40 young leaders for 2018. The honorees were recognized at a March 20 event.

In a March 23 article, the Journal called the group “proof that North Texas is well stocked with tomorrow’s bastion of leaders” with a list that includes “bold innovators in business, real estate, finance, technology, health care and philanthropy.”

Here is what DBJ said about Foster:

Sakina Rasheed Foster has a depth of experience with secured and unsecured lending and leads teams representing major international corporate borrowers, airlines, private equity sponsors and other financial institutions in complex high-dollar financing and corporate deals.

Foster leads within the firm through her work ethic, legal abilities and dedication to providing outstanding client service, often resulting in double-digit account growth and clients returning with more business. She also leads within the North Texas community through her commitment to diversity, equality and civility and work with the Orchid Giving Circle, the Equal Access to Justice Campaign, Texas Lawyers Assistance Program, Dallas Bar Association and Dallas Asian American Bar Association.
