

Financial Regulatory Roundup Newsletter May 2025

May 14, 2025 Phil Lookadoo, Brian Sung, Neil Issar, Alex Jackson, Khalil Bryant, Krista Garcia, Akeisha Gregory, David Staab

PRACTICES Financial Regulatory, Finance

This newsletter provides select updates to its readers of the most pertinent regulatory developments affecting the banking and wider financial industry.

The May edition of this newsletter includes:

- The Federal Reserve and FDIC Smoothen the Pathway to Crypto
- Federal Reserve Proposes Reforms to Stress Testing Framework to Reduce Capital Requirement Volatility
- DOJ Memo Signals Shift in Digital Asset Enforcement
- FDIC Changes to Resolution Planning
- New York Attorney General Files Suit against MoneyLion and DailyPay for Alleged Usury Violations

Read our May 2025 edition here.

Sign up to receive this ongoing newsletter series by clicking here and selecting the Financial Regulatory list. If you have questions about any of our topics, please contact one of our Financial Regulatory lawyers.