

Shulman, Rose, Stoner in Law360: ‘Greenwashing Suits May Implicate D&O Policies’

June 14, 2023 Robert Shulman, Cristen Rose, Michael Stoner

PRACTICES Environmental Litigation, Environmental, Social and Governance, Environmental

Partners Robert Shulman and Cristen Rose and Counsel Michael Stoner authored an article in Law360 discussing the potential insurance coverage that may exist for those facing greenwashing lawsuits.

Read an excerpt below:

States, municipalities and others are seeking to use litigation to hold the energy industry responsible for alleged contributions to climate change and its impacts. These suits implicate the potential for insurance coverage — and policyholders have a number of approaches available for seeking coverage for climate change litigation.

To read the full article on Law360, click here.