

OSHA Update July 2022

July 19, 2022 Matthew Deffebach, Mini Kapoor

PRACTICES Labor and Employment, OSHA

Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) webinar that provides information on the ever-changing nature of employment law.

Employment and workplace-related lawsuits continue to increase each year creating new challenges and concerns for in-house counsel, corporate executives and human resources professionals. Worker safety and compliance with OSHA rules and regulations are critical parts of day-to-day business for most companies.

Haynes Boone's OSHA and Workplace Disasters Practice Group provides a practical discussion and update about the latest trends in both OSHA compliance and enforcement regarding COVID-19 and other health and safety topics, including what your organization needs to know now under the Biden Administration.
