

Aya Abdellatif

Associate

New York

Aya.Abdellatif@haynesboone.com

+1 212.835.4855

PRACTICES Capital Markets and Securities, Corporate, Debt and Equity Financing, Corporate Governance, Regulatory Compliance, Digital Assets, Blockchain and Cryptocurrency

Aya Abdellatif is an associate in the Capital Markets and Securities Practice Group at Haynes Boone's New York office. Aya advises major financial institutions, public companies, and fintech clients on a wide range of U.S. and cross-border securities matters. She represents global banks in complex debt and equity offerings and regularly counsels on U.S. securities law, corporate governance, disclosure requirements, and SEC reporting obligations.

Aya is skilled in drafting and negotiating key transactional documents, coordinating regulatory communications, and conducting comprehensive due diligence to support deal structuring and execution. She has also counseled fintech and digital-asset companies on product structuring, commercial contracts, marketing practices, compliance considerations, and emerging regulatory frameworks, including matters related to digital-asset offerings and secondary trading.

QUALIFICATIONS

EDUCATION

- J.D., American University Washington College of Law, 2022, American University Business Law Review
- B.A., Political Science-International Affairs, Georgia State University, 2016

LANGUAGES

- Arabic
- French

ADMISSIONS

- New York