PRACTICES Intellectual Property, Patent Prosecution and Counseling

Bryan Hancock is an associate in the Intellectual Property Practice Group in the Dallas - North office of Haynes and Boone. He brings industry work experience to his patent prosecution practice.

Before law school, Bryan worked briefly as an intern in the fabrication plant of a major semiconductor manufacturer then went on to work for almost a decade as a software engineer for several companies. He worked on teams designing and building software for military radios, advanced prototype radios, and consumer level microcontroller development tools. In each role Bryan learned new technologies and worked to solve problems for his coworkers and customers.
