Daniel Mallet is a partner in the Real Estate Practice Group in Haynes Boone's Orange County office.

His practice focuses primarily on real estate finance transactions on behalf of clients such as national and regional banks, insurance debt funds and private equity lenders. Dan has significant experience documenting highly structured and complex construction and term loan lending facilities, as well as workouts and restructurings. His track record includes the finance of major hotels and resorts, e-commerce focused industrial and distribution centers, high rise office buildings, biomedical research complexes and skilled nursing facilities. Further, Dan routinely advises on syndicated transactions (representing syndication agents, as well as lenders purchasing into syndicated facilities) and is well versed on the current market trends for the same.

Dan also works with institutional lenders to help improve their lending programs, including counseling on form documents and advising on the creation of new syndication platforms.

Dan graduated summa cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania and attended the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He is an active member of multiple industry trade organizations, and has served as the chair of CREFC's Orange County Young Professionals Programming Committee.
