PRACTICES Litigation

Austin Sabin is an associate in the Litigation Practice Group in Haynes Boone's Dallas office. He brings experience and earnestness to his practice in resolving disputes and protecting the interests of his clients. He has experience in litigating early procedural issues that save clients significant amounts of money and time. Austin's practice focuses on commercial litigation in Texas federal and state courts.

Austin graduated cum laude from the J. Reuben Clark School of Law where he enjoyed his work as a teaching and research assistant, student advisor, and his position on the student board of the J. Reuben Clark Society. Prior to that, he received a Bachelor of Science in Finance from the Marriott School of Business. Austin enjoys cards and playing catch with his son.
