Propelling Clients Forward in Renewable Energy

Countries around the world have embraced renewable and clean energy solutions to power their economies. Investors are increasingly demanding that companies address Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) issues, and renewable energy has proven to be a key solution for companies to put corporate stewardship plans into action. Haynes and Boone is the legal force behind many innovative projects in the dynamic and growing renewable energy sector. We provide strategic advice to clients involved in renewable and clean energy projects, including wind, solar, storage, hydroelectric, geothermal, biomass, hydrogen and alternative fuels. Our experience combines a long-term perspective in power generation with cutting-edge capabilities, some of which have come from new approaches in competitive power markets.

Types of Clients We Serve

We work with a wide range of participants in the renewable energy sector, including developers, distribution companies, equipment manufacturers, governmental entities, independent generators, investors, land owners, lenders, off-takers, suppliers and utilities. We advise clients ranging from startups to some of the largest renewable energy companies in Europe and the U.S. on their most ambitious projects across the globe.

Broad Experience

Our experience in renewable energy includes:

- Greenfield development
- Project finance
- Engineering, procurement and construction (EPC)
- Power purchase agreements (PPAs)
- Environmental and land issues
- Mergers and acquisitions
- Supply agreements
- Tax advice (tax equity, investment tax credits, production tax credits, RENs)
