Recognized nationally and internationally as a fearless freedom of expression advocate, Laura Lee Prather was awarded The American Lawyer's inaugural Tony Mauro Media Lawyer Award for her tireless and successful efforts advocating for legislation to strengthen First Amendment rights, including zealous advocacy for free speech rights both at the statehouse and the courthouse. Board certified in Civil Appellate Law, Laura represents a broad array of clients at the trial and appellate court level in First Amendment, Anti-SLAPP, and intellectual property disputes. She represents content providers including online and traditional publications, cable and terrestrial broadcasters, streaming media platforms, podcasts, production companies, and music and sports entities.

Laura has been recognized for First Amendment Litigation - Nationwide in Chambers USA, 2017-2024 (Chambers and Partners), which describes her as “very well-versed on First Amendment law, transparency law and the appellate process,” and quotes a client praising Laura as a “a dogged and determined warrior for us. She works long hours, produces high-quality work, and does a fine job with her legal writing for appeals and amicus briefs.” Her clients value her dedication and work ethic as demonstrated by her recognition as a BTI Client Service All-Star (BTI Consulting Group).

A sought-after authority on Anti-SLAPP laws, Laura served as an American Bar Association Advisor to the Uniform Law Commission (ULC)'s Model Anti-SLAPP Committee, which wrote the Uniform Public Expression Protection Act adopted by the ULC in 2020. She is now working with the ULC Enactment Committee to have the legislation serve as a model for the passage of Anti-SLAPP laws in all 50 states. As an established authority on Anti-SLAPP issues, Laura has testified before multiple state legislatures on the need for state Anti-SLAPP laws and before Congress on the need for federal legislation. She has argued a significant number of Anti-SLAPP motions and appeals at every level. She has also co-authored definitive law review articles on the Texas Citizens Participation Act (Texas' Anti-SLAPP law), including:

- “Bullies Beware: Safeguarding Constitutional Rights Through Anti SLAPP In Texas,” 47 Tex. Tech L. Rev. 725 (Summer 2015), with then-First Court of Appeals Justice (and now Texas Supreme Court Justice) Jane Bland. This piece was selected by the Texas Bar College to receive The Franklin Jones Best CLE Article.
- “The Developing Jurisprudence of the Texas Citizens Participation Act,” 50 Tex. Tech L. Rev. 633(Summer 2018) with Justice Jane Bland

- “The Changing Landscape of the Texas Citizens Participation Act,” 52 Tex. Tech L. Rev. 163 (Winter 2020), with Texas Tech Law Professor Rob T. Sherwin

In addition to being instrumental in the passage of the Texas Citizens Participation Act, Laura created and led coalitions to pass three other significant pieces of First Amendment legislation in recent history in Texas: the reporters’ privilege, the Defamation Mitigation Act (Texas’ retraction statute), and the neutral reportage privilege. All of these laws are designed to promote and protect free speech rights in Texas. Over the last decade, she has also tirelessly promoted and helped pass significant government transparency reform measures.

Laura has been recognized by The American Lawyer as one of the 45 best young women lawyers in the nation for her substantial career as a fierce advocate dedicated to preserving First Amendment rights, defending media companies in cases involving reporting on matters of public concern, and defending entertainment companies in theft of idea, trademark, and copyright infringement litigation. In nominating Laura to The American Lawyer award, George Freeman, executive director of the Media Law Resource Center, noted that she “has changed the legal landscape for free speech rights in Texas.” In addition, Laura is the first woman to receive the Texas Daily Newspaper Association’s Legacy Award, has been named Texas Association of Broadcasters’ Associate of the Year, and was selected as one of Texas Lawyer’s “Extraordinary Women in Texas Law” (ALM Media Properties, LLC). She was also recently named a Fulbright Scholar for efforts to enhance speech and press freedoms globally.

In addition to her private practice, Laura is heavily involved in community and trade organizations. She serves as a member of the Texas Association of Broadcasters’ Legislative Task Force, on the Public Participation Project’s National Board of Directors, as the General Counsel for the Legislative Advisory Committee of the Texas Press Association, and as a co-chair of the Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas’ Legislative Committee. She also started and was the inaugural chair of the Media Law Resource Center’s State Legislative Committee, bringing together lawyers from virtually every state that work on legislation impacting First Amendment rights and government transparency. At her home in Austin, she has served her community as a member of the boards of directors for public broadcast station KLRU, the Children’s Advocacy Center, and Lifeworks, and does volunteer work with two of her daughters for the National Charity League.

Prior to joining the firm, Laura served as a program attorney for the national television shows Christina’s Court and Judge Alex, and as an adjunct professor at the University of Texas School of Law in Media & Entertainment Law.

SELECTED CLIENT REPRESENTATIONS

- Book People, Inc. et al. v. Wong, et al., Case No., 91 F.4th 318 (5th Cir. 2024) – affirming preliminary injunction of portions of HB 900 (READER Act) requiring booksellers to rate every book ever sold to Texas public schools based on unconstitutionally vague definitions of “sexually explicit” and “sexually relevant.” The 5th Circuit held these portions of the Act were unconstitutional compelled speech. The ruling withstood a sua sponte request for en banc reconsideration.
- Broder, et al. v. Nexstar Media Inc. & Jody Barr, Cause No. 03-19-00484-CV, 2019 WL 5866590 (Tex. App.—Austin 2021, no pet.) – affirming dismissal under the Texas Citizens Participation Act of claims brought by a doctor and his medical practice over an investigative report by Nexstar Broadcasting Group, Inc. and its reporter, Jody Barr. Although the Plaintiff did not file a petition for review, he tried to overturn the ruling through a separately filed Bill of Review but was unsuccessful. The Bill of Review was dismissed in the trial court through a Rule 91a Motion to Dismiss, which was affirmed on appeal.
- Burns v. CBS Stations Group of Texas, LLC, Cause No. 05-20-00700-CV, 2020 WL 7065827 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2020, no pet.) – reversing the denial of a dismissal under the Texas Citizens Participation Act of claims brought against CBS Stations Group of Texas, LLC for defamation and negligence after relying on a mug shot provided by law enforcement to identify an individual with the same name involved in a bank robbery.
- Entravision Comm’ns Corp. v. Salinas, 487 S.W.3d 276 (Tex. App.—Corpus Christi-Edinburg 2016, pet. denied) – reversing the denial of dismissal by operation of law under the Texas Citizens Participation Act a defamation claim brought against Entravision for a Facebook post discussing rumors of a father’s detention at the border with a large sum of money. The son, a public official, sued, arguing the post defamed him by mentioning the familial relationship. The trial court failed to rule on the TCPA motion, resulting its dismissal by operation of law, and the 13th Court of Appeals reversed the denial finding the statements were not defamatory as to the son.

- ProPublica, Inc. v. Frazier, Cause No. 2018-45639 (234th Judicial District Court, Harris County, Texas), Cause No. 01-19-0009-CV, 2020 WL 370563 (Tex. App. – Houston [1st Dist.] Jan. 23, 2020, pet. denied) – reversing the denial of a motion to dismiss under the Texas Citizens Participation Act in a case brought by a prominent Houston doctor against ProPublica and the Houston Chronicle for a joint investigative article written about his career as a heart surgeon and questions that had been raised about some of his practices and procedures. Initially, the trial court denied the TCPA motion and refused to consider the affirmative defenses including the truth and privileged nature of the reporting. The Court of Appeals reversed and remanded for the trial court to consider the affirmative defenses brought.
- ProPublica, Inc. v. Frazier, Cause No. 2018-45639 (234th Judicial District Court, Harris County, Texas), Cause No. 01-22-00281-CV (Tex. App. – Houston [1st Dist.] April 25, 2024, no pet.) – reversing the denial of a motion to dismiss under the Texas Citizens Participation Act for the second time. This time holding that the investigative report at issue was substantially true and a fair, true and accurate report of official proceedings, dismissing all claims, and remanding for an award of attorney’s fees.
- Lowry v. Fox Television Stations, LLC, et al., Cause No. 2020-14375 (281st Judicial District Court, Harris County, Texas), Cause No. 01-20-00627-CV, 2022 WL 2720509 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2022, no pet.) – affirming the dismissal of defamation and negligence claims brought against Fox Television Station KRIV for its reporting on the plaintiff’s recent arrest for possessing lewd visual images of a child.
- Moore v. Dallas Morning News, Inc., et al., No. 05-22-01286-CV, 2021 WL 5480679 (Tex. App.—Dallas, 2024) – affirming the dismissal of a defamation action brought against the Dallas Morning News for its reporting on the plaintiff’s arrest and related criminal proceedings for being a felon in possession of a firearm.
- Darby v. New York Times Co., No. 07-12-00193-CV, 2014 WL 818614 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 2014, pet. denied) – affirming the grant of summary judgment in favor of The New York Times and its reporter, James McKinley, in a defamation lawsuit brought by plaintiff, a former activist over an article mentioning his involvement as an FBI informant in a plot to firebomb police cars outside the 2008 Republican National Convention (“RNC”).
- KTRK Television, Inc. v. Theaola Robinson, 409 S.W.3d 682 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2013, pet. denied) – reversing denial of a motion to dismiss under the Texas Citizens Participation Act in a lawsuit brought by plaintiff against local broadcaster, KTRK, for its investigative reporting on the closing of a local charter school due to lack of adequate funds and allegations of financial mismanagement and failure to properly account for state funds. On remand, the trial court awarded all attorney’s fees incurred at the trial and appellate court level.
- Jones v. Kirkstall Road Enterprises, Inc., Cause No. 05-18-00592-CV, 2020 WL 2059910 (Tex. App. – Dallas April 29, 2020, no pet.) – affirming the grant of summary judgment in a lawsuit claiming negligence and brought by the plaintiff against a production company for its blurring of his image in an episode of The First 48.
- The Austin state court judge Daniella De Seta Lyttle sided with Haynes Boone clients, the media coalition, granting its motion for summary judgment and ordering the Texas Department of Public Safety to begin the process of releasing public records related to the shooting in Uvalde, Texas.
- The Arizona Supreme Court dismissed a defamation case brought by a former Congressional candidate against Haynes and Boone client iHeartMedia because the statements at issue, which were made on a political talk show, were protected under the First Amendment.
- On behalf of ABC News, Haynes Boone challenged the constitutionality of a gag order prohibiting attorneys and others involved in the litigation relating to the tragedy at the Astroworld Festival in November 2021 from speaking publicly about a wide range of topics related to the case.
- A federal court transferred a defamation case improperly brought in Texas by a U.S. Representative from California against Haynes Boone client, NBCUniversal, for statements made in New York about the Congressman's conduct in the District of Columbia.

- The Texas Court of Appeals (1st COA) upheld the Anti-SLAPP dismissal of all claims against our client, a Houston area Fox television Station, finding minor errors did not render the reporting substantially untrue because the gist or sting of the story was correctly conveyed.
- Arguing that the discovery rule was inapplicable for statements made in mass media, we obtained, Anti-SLAPP and Rule 91a dismissal, respectively, of time-barred defamation claims brought against our clients, the Dallas Morning News and its reporter, for their reporting on Plaintiff's arrest and related criminal proceedings for being a felon in possession of a firearm.
